

Free assets and tools

Free art, sound and tools for your first game, with license notes quoted from each official site.

Item	What it is	License or price, as stated on the source	Link
Godot Engine	Free 2D and 3D engine	MIT license (godotengine.org/license)	godotengine.org
Godot "Your first 2D game"	Official step by step tutorial	Part of the official Godot docs	docs.godotengine.org
Kenney assets	Free game art, audio and UI packs	Kenney support page: "public domain licensed (CC0). You're free to use them, even in commercial projects."	kenney.nl
Kenney Pixel Platformer	Example pack for a first platformer	Page states "Creative Commons CC0"	kenney.nl
OpenGameArt	Community asset library	Licenses vary per asset. Check each one and credit as required.	opengameart.org itch.io free game assets	Free asset packs from creators	Licenses vary per pack. Read each page.	itch.io
Piskel	Free online sprite editor	Site title: "Free online sprite editor"	piskelapp.com
Tiled	Tile map editor	Site: "free and open source"	mapeditor.org
jsfxr	8-bit sound effect maker in the browser	sfxr.me lists "Unrestricted commercial use." as included in the Free version (a paid Pro version adds extra export formats and cloud save).	sfxr.me
Audacity	Audio editor and recorder	Site: "Free, Open Source Audio Editor and Recorder"	audacityteam.org
Mixamo	Auto rigging and ready animations for humanoid 3D characters	Adobe Mixamo FAQ: "Mixamo is available free for anyone with an Adobe ID and does not require a subscription to Creative Cloud." and "You can use both characters and animations royalty free for personal, commercial, and non-profit projects" (including video games).	helpx.adobe.com
Blender	3D modeling and animation	blender.org: "Blender is released under the GNU General Public License (GPL, or "free software")." and "What you create with Blender is your sole property."	blender.org
itch.io	Where to publish your finished game	itch.io Creator FAQ: "itch.io costs nothing to use."	itch.io

License wording checked on the official pages on Oct 21, 2026. Left out on purpose: Freesound (licenses vary per sound; not verified yet), LMMS (site did not load when checked), Aseprite (paid, not free).

StarterLoot (starterloot.com), a Telep IO LLC project. Edition: October 2026. Licenses and prices change, so check each official page before you rely on it.